Prof. Dr. Konrad Ott

at the invitation of the Research Unit Sustainability and Global Change

The Ten Domains of Climate Ethics

The lecture provides an overview of the current state in climate ethics. It distinguishes different domains of climate ethics and argues for specific normative positions in any single domain, as mitigation, distribution of burdens, and climate engineering. Result shall be a comprehensive ethical approach on one of the most pressing environmental problems in our age. Some policy suggestions are proposed at the end of ethical reflection.
